Victory for Yanks 3-0, Second Game

Another Big Crowd at the Polo Grounds with Fine Weather

(By Associated Press.)
Polo, Grounds, New York.—The Youngster Waite Hoyt came over from his home in Brooklyn Thursday and besmeared the Giants with goose eggs, while the Yankees walked off the field with the second game of the world series, by a score of 3 to 0. The base running of the Yankees again was a feature, "Bob" Meusel stealing home in the eighth.

LEMBERGER BAIL FIXED AT $10,000 IN MADISON COURT

FATHER PLEADS NOT GUILTY OF KILLING LITTLE DAUGHTER.

JOHNSON TO CELL

District Attorney Lewis Asks to be Relieved of Prosecuting Case.

(By Associated Press.)
Madison.—Martin Lemberger, father of Annie Lemberger, seven-year-old child killed here in September, 1911, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge A. C. Hoppman, in superior court Thursday, charged with second degree murder in connection with the death of his child. Bail was fixed at $10,000.

District Attorney Theodore Lewis expressed a wish in court to be relieved of his duties in prosecuting the case, declaring he was firmly convinced Lemberger was not guilty.

Arraigned for Perjury.
Mrs. Magdalen Lemberger and her son, Alois, were arraigned on charges of perjury and their bail fixed at $10,000 each. Bail for all three will be furnished at 1:30 p. m. Thursday by the father of Lemberger and his brother-in-law.

Judge Hoppman denied request of their attorneys that the complaints and warrants against them be quashed on grounds that they were alleged to have been sworn to before the alleged perjury was committed.

His Three Children.
It was brought out that Mrs. Lemberger has three children at home, the oldest, 14, who needs her care, and that Alois was earning $17 a week as an apprentice plumber. Bail was placed at $10,000 for each of them.

District Attorney Lewis, in each of these cases, again asked that he be relieved of the duty.

Great Showing Made in

"Y" Drive With $14,200;

Only $4,300 to Hit Goal

Y. M. C. A. 1921 CANVASS

Goal $18,000. Amount reported, Thursday, $14,200.

Previously reported, $7,400.50. Amount to be raised, $4,300.50.

Reports made by the captains of the canvassing teams for the Y. M. C. A. at the luncheon, at the "Y" Thursday showed a total of $14,200.50 raised including contributions and memberships.

The estimated number of memberships was 200 on a basis of $12 each and to date there are 507 reported, or 250 per cent of the quota. The contributions, however, have been lower than estimated.

Bugs' Team Wins.
Robert Bugge's team in the first division of which William McVicar is captain, had the largest amount to report Thursday with 40 memberships and a total of $2,011 in contributions and memberships. The totals for the various divisions for the second day of the campaign are as follows:

Div. 1, McVicar, 2,011.

Div. 2, Toulon, 1,691.

Div. 3, Haggart, 1,555.

Div. 4, Lovejoy, 1,571.

Confidence was expressed at the meeting that by hard work Friday the remainder of the necessary funds needed would be raised. The teams have been working in districts for the past two days but the men will be free to go anywhere they wish Friday.

Music was furnished by the Milton College quartet and William Bonnet.

J. L. Wilson told of a man who handed him a check for $5 and said that next to his mother's cooking the Y. M. C. A. was the best and he wanted to show his appreciation as he was leaving the city.

Mayor Joseph J. Leary, Edgerton, was a guest and made a few remarks.

"NEWSIES" TO ATTEND THEATRE, THURSDAY

More than 100 Gazette-carrier boys, sellers, and friends will attend the Myers theater, Thursday night, the guests of Manager Charles Edgerton.

The boys will be in charge of Hubert Roy and George Raubacher of the circulation department.

HUNDREDS DIE OF PLAGUE IN INDIA, LONDON IS TOLD

CITY OF JUBBULPUR IS SWEEPED BY SCOURGE OF DISEASE.

PEOPLE IN PANIC

Victims Perish Faster Than Bodies Can Be Buried or Buried.

(By Associated Press.)

London.—Hundreds of persons have died of plague in the city of Jubbulpur, British India, says a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Allahabad.

The victims of the scourge are so numerous, it is said, that it is almost impossible to bury or burn the bodies of those who have died.

The city is reported panic stricken.

$12,000 FIRE CASE IN JUDGE'S HANDS

Testimony Completed, Williams Returns to State Prison.

Testimony was closed last Wednesday afternoon and briefs are to be filed in the circuit court litigation of E. L. Bellman, Evansville, to collect $12,000 insurance from the defendant, J. J. Williams. Witnesses throughout the court hearing failed to implicate Bellman as being responsible for the incendiary fire which destroyed the garage of Bellman and J. R. Williams, co-partners, May 27, 1920, in Evansville.

Williams, the star witness for the defense, was taken back to Waupun, where he is serving a sentence for the crime of arson.

During the long siege on the stand Williams declared his statements and testimony during the hearing before Judge H. L. Maxwell in the municipal court here to be the truth. He repudiated statements made by J. M. Shearer, in his confession made in the Evansville hotel, in which he declared that Bellman knew of the plan to fire the garage.

Later when both were arrested and Williams arraigned, Williams contradicted statements implicating Bellman.

To File Briefs.

The briefs will not be on the evidence presented but more on the points of law involved in the test case. Those who testified Wednesday were J. M. Shearer, who conducted the investigation; F. W. Gilchrist, chief of police; R. H. Richmond, attorney for Bellman; Elaine Doris, stenographer; Ernest Jordan, C. S. Spencer, R. E. Smith and both Bellman and Williams.

The plaintiff, attacked the testimony of Shearer, who prepared the inventory of property loss. It was alleged that the former fire marshal failed to include three new automobiles and one truck destroyed and only obtained an inventory showing less than $5,000 loss whereas the proof of loss submitted by Bellman was for $12,000.

Court Here Friday.

The defense through its trial lawyer, J. J. Williams, has sought to bring in the case to the court previous to the night of the fire. Williams' intention of filing this allegation, the hearing was adjourned. The testimony during the hearing was expected in the near future by Judge Grimm. Court will be held Friday afternoon for the last time before the November term opens.

Dunbar, Well Known Stock Dealer, Dies

Emery Dunbar, one of the county's leading stock dealers, died at his home in Foorville at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday, after a year's illness. Mr. Dunbar is well known in all parts of the state, where he had bought and sold livestock for 45 years. He was born in Foorville, state of Oregon, and came to Foorville when little over two years old. He was the son of Robert Dunbar and Catherine Marsh Dunbar. Here he grew to manhood. Forty-five years ago he started in the livestock business with Newton Clark and Michael Dawson, but later went into business for himself.

He leaves a wife and two sons, Ernest, Foorville, and Harry, Chicago; three brothers, Aaron, Seattle; Ernest, California, and DeWitt, state of Oregon; and one sister, Marion, Seattle. Notice of the funeral will be given later.

Smoot Proposal Impracticable, Is Senator's Stand

(By Associated Press.)
Washington.—The Smoot manufacturers' sales tax plan drew fire Thursday from Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin, who told the senate it utterly ignored the rules that taxes should be imposed according to ability to pay and that it would be an immediate administration because of the difficulty in determining who should pay the tax.

Where the three-per-cent tax proposed could not be passed on to the consumer, Senator Lenroot said, it would add to the already heavy burdens of manufacturers now operating without profit to give employment to labor and that it could be shifted to the consumer. It would be subject to the same criticism as the excess profits tax in that each dealer handling the goods would charge the tax to the consumer, a commission for collecting the tax.

See Treasury Chances.

The Wisconsin senator gave several illustrations to support his argument that such a tax could not be administered and would result in "chaos in the treasury department." "It is to be observed," he said, "that the tax is to be imposed upon the manufacturer, whether he produces, when sold, leased or licensed for consumption or use without further process of manufacture. A textile mill in New England manufactures cloth, and then it is sold. If the cloth so manufactured is sold over the retail counter to the housewife, it is subject to the tax. To be paid by the New England manufacturer is not so subject."

Can't Determine Tax.
"Is the government going to follow the dress goods from the textile mill in New England through the broker and wholesaler down to the housewife, in the home to determine the tax to be paid by the New England manufacturer?" (Continued on page 5)

HUNDREDS BELIEVED INJURED WHEN TRAINS COLLIDE

Trainmen Killed and Then Burned.

(By Associated Press.)
Paris.—Twenty-three bodies of persons who lost their lives in the rear end collision of two suburban passenger trains in the half mile tunnel, leading into the St. Lazare railway station Wednesday afternoon, had been recovered from the smoldering wreckage Thursday afternoon.

Only seven of them have yet been identified, among these being Count Gerard De Rohan-Chabot, a former French social circles. Newspaper reports indicated about 100 were injured.

The collision occurred when a train for the rear end of a train for Versailles, which had left four minutes earlier but which had stopped inside the tunnel. Cries for help and means were audible at both ends of the tunnel.

The fire started by explosions of small illuminating tanks in the coaches of the telegraph train. The train for Versailles had stopped to repair a broken coupling.

Troops are guarding the scene of the disaster.

Debs Pardon Plea Laid Up "for a While"

(By Associated Press.)
Washington.—The question of parole or pardon for Eugene V. Debs has been "laid aside for a while" by the department of justice, according to Attorney General Daugherty, who said Thursday that such recommendation as he had prepared would be put in "inches of time" before going to the president.

WHAT THE MAYORS OF WISCONSIN CITIES SAY ABOUT PROBLEMS

You will like the story of the Luther Valley church. Perhaps you did not know that way back in 1846, 75 years ago, this church had over 250 members.

Out of the country, in a part of the county with high aspirations at one time, to have a city located there, the church has gone on year after year, serving a large number of members.

The story of the Luther Valley church, illustrated, will appear in the Gazette Saturday.

Perhaps Rock county was peaceful in the days past, but there was one lynching and at another time a band of men came over to the county seat from the town of Fulton, all rigged out to bring up a youth who had committed a murder. The old days recalled in the Gazette Saturday.

Majors of the cities of the state will meet here in January, next week. The Gazette will print on Saturday, letters from more than a score of these men at the head of the city governments of the state, telling what has been accomplished in the past year, what the big problem has been, how it has been solved and how the budget will look for the year 1922.

You will find a big, satisfactory, entertaining newspaper in the Gazette, Saturday, with a host of special features and the news of the way as well.

Build a Community Center and Convention Hall for the city, for the convenience of the people, and have it belong to the whole city. This is also a part of a program to provide a place for the people to meet and to hold their meetings. Complete the city plan. Make more small parks and playgrounds and provide at least one place where the whole people may recreate at will.

Camp for auto tourists coming to Janesville or passing through.

Have a permanent memorial for the soldiers of the World War, suitable and adequate, and preserve the relics and mementoes of that and all other American wars in a public place.

Finish the paving of Janesville streets and sidewalks with concrete.

Make all main highways into city of concrete to connect with good pavements in Janesville.

Keep the city looking bright and clean with paint and the streets free from dirt.

Either build a new hotel or increase the number of the present hotels so as to take care of the traveling public and be able to handle conventions.

Finish the high school at an early date and give the children proper educational facilities.

WE ARE GLAD THAT GEN. HOLWAY REMAINS.

Governor Blaine has done the state a service in asking Gen. Holway to remain in office as adjutant general. He retired Wednesday under the age limit, that is, the age measured by years. But it would be hard to pick a man more capable, no matter if 20 years younger than the general, or one who could render greater and more efficient service to the state.

The Tankers got part way up the beanstalk to the home of the Giants Wednesday.

THIS IS ABOUT THE WAY THE FIGURES WILL COME OUT.

Given a problem in simple arithmetic: A city has the largest budget ever known in 75 years of its history. It must raise $35,000 more than ever by taxation. It will have a total of $720,000 to hand out after the taxpayers have been properly tricked of the $35,000 more than he paid last year.

Waste in the city government has been placed at about 40 per cent. Give the system all the benefit of any doubt, at 35 per cent—35 per cent of $720,000 is $252,000. Subtract $252,000 from $720,000 and there remains $468,000.

Supposing the city figured on getting 100 cents on the dollar for its money, the total to spend would be $468,000. Taxes then, instead of being higher, would be lower for 1922. Instead of a bigger budget, there would be a smaller one. Instead of a heavier burden placed on the people in a time of business depression there would be a lesser one.

But we are told it cannot be done; that the program we (who that "we" is, is variously stated) have fixed is irrevocable.

At the same rate of increase and high speed in spending the city's money it will take a million dollars for 1923. It will take more in 1924. By that time Janesville will think it is paying for the war with Germany, in order that "our program" may be carried out.

It would seem that a system that permits this wild extravagance without check, let or hindrance, is ready for the scrap heap.

The Ku Klux Klan indignantly denies that it was patterned after a college fraternity.

GO TO AND LEARN OF THE WAYS OF EASE AND COMFORT.

Mr. Fred Harvey—he ought to be called a colonel by this time since he has been south so long—but Mr. Fred Harvey, restaurateur, hash provider and grub dispenser for several long railroads in the southwest, has learned that custom is above the law and comfort higher than rules of effete and dilapidated civilization. In order that the eatin' houses should be untarnished by the rough diamond manners of the geographical location in which they happened to be, he issued an order that no man should feed in his places, accounted above the waist-band in shirt only. It made no difference whether the gent were silver mounted suspenders, plain galluses, or a tan belt to harmonize with the color of his socks, or that the shirt was of parti-colored, nigger minstrel silk. Harvey would, in a pinch, furnish a nice alpaca jacket for the unwary and daring who had left the coat at home all unthinking of the impending disaster to decorum.

Herein steps the majesty of the law which had just suffered a bang in the southwestern part of the law. The Oklahoma Corporation Commission says a man in the heat of the day may eat in any old garment he pleases—wears kilties if he wishes. He can take just as many whacks at the steak as appetite dictates, coat or no coat, in galluses or wearing his pants held up with a single nail.

Mr. Harvey, shocked beyond measure, has taken the case to the supreme court of Oklahoma and from there is likely to go to the U. S. court and if necessary to appeal to the League of Nations, the International Court or to Col. Trotsky. The southwest must and shall be civilized. Next step is to introduce eating with a fork.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger says that Mr. Wilson's attitude on the German treaty is "colored by partisanship and edged with revenge." That looks reasonable.

In the death of David Bispham, America loses one of its greatest singers. In 1896 Bispham was the only American singing in Grand Opera on either continent. The American public knows him better as a singer in concert than in opera.

Thousand Islands and Then Some

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Alexandria Bay, N. Y.—Gilbert K. Chesterton in his talk on the ignorance of the educated might have used the Thousand Islands as an apt illustration of his text: "Ignorance is not so much what people don't know as it is their knowing so many things that aren't so."

Thousand Islands are to most people a group of approximately 1,000 dots of land in the St. Lawrence River. A native of this place who has lived in or near the islands all his life says that "there are exactly 1,000 islands in the group."

And her tone implied; if you doubt it, count 'em yourself.

Yet the fact is that the Thousand Islands number close to 1,600. The early French explorers sailed through the maze of islands and dubbed them with the name they still carry. "Thousand Islands" is a euphemous name, suggestive of romance, and the history of the islands has run accordingly.

The romance of the French days was Indian tradition. The Iroquois had a picturesque tale to tell of the origin of this long stretch of islands in the St. Lawrence.

The Great Spirit, they said, wanted peace on earth. So he gave to the St. Lawrence region as a sign an island shaped like a peace pipe. This island, called Catumet, is still pointed out near Clayton. Somewhere near there was the garden of the Great Spirit. But when his people ignored that peace pipe and brought war into the land, the Great Spirit in disappointment seized his garden up in a blanket to leave the place. The blanket tore, and the garden, falling into the St. Lawrence River, broke into a thousand islands and lay on the surface of the water. This is the origin, the story says, accounts for the beauty of the islands.

The region, too, is claimed by some students of Indian lore as the scene of the Hiawatha story, as it actually occurred in Indian history. Hiawatha, according to these authorities, was the Onondaga hero, Michaboo. Great Hare, whose wisdom and prowess set him forever in Indian affairs as the great leader and example.

Today, Indian souvenirs in the shops are the only signs left to remind the people who dart about the waters in motor boats of the times when Indian canoes dotted the St. Lawrence.

The romance for today is supplied by modern stories. Just across from Alexandria Bay, for instance, is Heart Island with its novel history. A beautiful castle stands on this island, a typical millionaire's residence. But the windows are shattered. The doors are boarded.

Eighteen years ago, they tell you, a millionaire planned this castle for his wife. There were 80 rooms and 50 baths, and other details on the same scale. An underground passage to the castle from the dock was constructed for freight. Even the power house was built on the island. A million dollars was built like a cluster of towers. A million dollars was put into the building, and unlimited enthusiasm and affection. Hearts were painted into the decorations on the ceiling and cut in the carvings of the stone.

But before it was finished the mistress of the castle died. The millionaire ordered work suspended at once. Crates of furniture were left standing unpacked in the rooms.

Later, visitors to the islands were permitted by the caretakers to see the castle, but so many brought penknives and carved their names on the beautiful woodwork, or otherwise defaced the building, that it was finally closed entirely. Now it is rumored that the castle, which has never been lived in to end the first, eighteen year chapter of its career. Plans are under way to convert it into a summer hotel.

Heart Island, the typical deserted castle of the fairy stories, is not the only desolate looking residence in the islands. Many of the beautiful homes of the rich, each on its own island, or group of islands, are closed for the season. It is late now, but some have never been boarded throughout the summer.

There is no blasted love back of these boarded doors. If there is a romance there it is the cold romance of the money. The owners have other estates in Palm Beach, Newport, and some retreats in the Adirondacks. The island is kept as a rustic retreat, to be used now and then, perhaps, when rest and quiet may be wanted.

Nearly all of these are in perfect condition. The flower beds and lawns are as precisely kept as if the owner were there to enjoy them. The attractiveness of the estates is not wasted, however, for many visitors to hotels and cottages at Alexandria Bay and other colonies, take long motor boat rides among the islands, admiring the show places.

The islands in their original state are beautiful, some densely wooded, some rocky with pine trees and some open fields, others smooth and green. In among these, on some millionaires' property, the tall flowers add a striking note of gay red, orange and purple. Terraces are masses of blooms. Asters and goldenglow are skillfully set among the rocks at the water's edge so that they are mirrored in the river. One of these millionaires has even his own flower edged canal, built at great expense, to form a winding waterway between the islands of his estate.

Not all of the homes, however, are deserted. Not all are owned by millionaires, either. There are cottages of all sizes down to a hideously tiny green "love nest" which the story goes "was built for two but there are three now."

The islands are of all sizes. Some of the largest accommodate whole summer colonies. But the most popular size for summer homes are those that comfortably hold a single house, leaving enough land for a yard and garden. Islands smaller than this are not wasted, though. Houses are built on dots of land so microscopic that the front yard is under water. To take a walk, they have to get in a boat at the front door and go somewhere else.

One of the little frame cottages was even built on a reconstructed island. A few rocks with a lone tree stuck up above the shallow water and the land was filled in enough to make a foundation for a small house and even a few trees were planted in the yard.

Why all this work should be necessary, when there are plenty of untenanted islands of comfortable size lying all about is a bit obscure. Still, islands have gone up, and the two rocks and a pine tree may have been a bargain. Several hundred of the islands on the American side of the river were sold years ago to a man for $3,000. It is a fact that Pullman, the railroad man, bought a desirable island for $25 about 60 years ago. And it is estimated that the same island, without its handsome residence, would now bring no less than $25,000.

No one who has ever heard his baritone rendition of Danny Deever will ever forget it.

The Boston Transcript prints a story of Henry Wing, a newspaper correspondent, who brought the news of the battle of the Wilderness to President Lincoln and a message from Gen. Grant. Here is one paragraph:

The President's eyes glowed. He threw his arms about the messenger and, in the exuberance, kissed him on the forehead.

Those last lines, the Transcript has put in perhaps, as an expression in pure unadulterated Bostonese of comment on the kissing.

In the death of David Bispham, America loses one of its greatest singers. In 1896 Bispham was the only American singing in Grand Opera on either continent. The American public knows him better as a singer in concert than in opera.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

BUCK UP.
Buck up when you're discouraged.
Buck up when things go wrong.
Buck up and face the battle.

Care doesn't last for long.
While the thought is in your mind
And hope seems lost in doubt.
Buck up and face your problem.
You still can work it out.

Buck up and fight still harder.
Tomorrow waits for you.
Until the game is ended.
There's something you can do.
And even after failure.

But your grief or pain
And yet remain undaunted.
You still can work it out.

Buck up when you are tiring.
Your foes are things, too.
Buck up, the fight's not hopeless.
Until they're conquered you.
Buck up, though bruised and battered.

Still battle, tooth and nail;
Though flesh and muscle falter,
Don't let your spirit fail.

Buck up, the will within you.
Unconquered must remain.
For man must face his duty.
In spite of grief or pain.
There still is time to conquer.

However dark the night,
Unless you let misfortune
Destroy your spirit too.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY C. MOULTON.

THE STUDENT'S REMINISCENCE.
Alas, the soothing halcyon days are past;
The summer's superabundance is quaffed;
The thirst is still for the cool, refreshing drink
Of salty condensation's boundless sea.

Woe's me!—to well augment my sorrow great,
The hours that I spent with her are not
A string of pearls, or prisms, that prick my mind;
A string of debts, or prisms, that prick my mind.

"The true, she loved me not, she loved my gold.
Indeed, I spent not hours alone with her;
Peace has been—her portion's sea
Tastes not so salty as it did in her."

—Philip Schick, Jr.

FACTS NOT WORTH KNOWING.

Peace has been declared in Russia, but during the peace fighting will go on as usual.

Who's Who Today

MRS. O. H. P. BELMONT.
Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's announcement that she will organize a new women's political party which will present its own candidates for political offices has again brought that millionaire New York woman before the women of the country.

Mrs. Belmont has long been active in women's efforts to obtain their political freedom and reforms in general. She has been a leader in the fight for equal rights and financial backing to charitable and other public causes.

Mrs. Belmont's maiden name was Alice D. Smith. Her parents lived in Mobile, Ala., at the time of her birth. She is a granddaughter of Gen. Robert Desha of Tennessee.

Mrs. Belmont's first husband, whom she married in 1874, was William Nassau Vanderbilt. Her marriage to him occurred in 1876. Mr. Belmont died June 10, 1910. Among the movements that Mrs. Belmont has been interested in are hospitals, children's homes, abolition of child labor, better conditions for working women, and the woman suffrage movement. One of her many donations was the $100,000 to the Nassau hospital at Mineola, L. I. She founded and became president of the Political Equality Association. She organized the women's party in New York in 1917. In September, 1918, and at Washington the same year. She is also known as a speaker and writer on suffrage matters.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS
"Rock River Chambers."

The proposal from Janesville and Dixon that the communities of the Rock river valley align themselves in a union designed to giving the valley a more hearty heart for the advancement of their common interest challenges general attention. The information accompanying the first publicity in the matter surprises most people. The fact that the drainage basin of the Rock covers all or more than 29 counties in the two states; that the valley is 320 miles long and part of the way 65 miles wide and occupies 9,792 square miles outlines the geographical scope of the plan. That area is greater than that of Massachusetts or New Jersey, greater than Vermont or New Hampshire, double that of Connecticut, nearly four times that of Delaware and eight times Rhode Island.

Most of the aims proposed are economic. As a matter of fact the basin of the Rock has greater economic unity than the state of Illinois. One of the cardinal aims of the movement is the united development of the highway system. The fact that the Rock river valley contains some of the most charming scenery of the midwest gives good basis for the united efforts for the giving of every touch of attractiveness that a common interest renders possible. In this way the lure of the Rock river country will reach every state when the automobile empties people to the venture of enjoyable outings.

LOOKING BACKWARD
FORTY YEARS AGO

Oct. 6, 1881.—Only routine business occupied the regular meeting of the common council last night and the meeting lasted but an hour and was without discord. The Board of Education met last night and decided to have a new well dug at the high school, as the old one does not furnish enough water. One of the spellers was also changed.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
Oct. 6, 1891.—Potatoes are coming into the local markets in quantities and are selling at from 25 to 35 cents per bushel, depending on the quality and the grade. The potatoes have been here but a short time. Re-adjustment of the city assessment, as ordered by the Wisconsin State Tax Commission, will start next Monday. Two Madison men and a man from Kenosha will be on the board.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Oct. 6, 1901.—Sunday.

TEN YEARS AGO
Oct. 6, 1911.—Peter Anderson, Minneapolis, working for the best sugar factory, was instantly killed when struck by a train on the railroad track on Mackay street. He had been here but a short time. Re-adjustment of the city assessment, as ordered by the Wisconsin State Tax Commission, will start next Monday. Two Madison men and a man from Kenosha will be on the board.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author

THE CONFESSIOIN OF A GYNECOLOGIST

A jin-a-collo-ist to spell it as it is pronounced, is a physician who limits his practice to diseases of women. Maybe his observations on the most of a little biased, for he sees so many morbid ones. And yet, he sees as many healthy women as the surgeon, internist or neurologist sees normal persons, so his opinion is as well grounded as any doctor's opinion of people may be, and I print him communication here.

Dr. William Brady—Dear Sir: Twice during the last few months have a young woman asked you about something, one, at least, suggesting that if girls did not permit some little familiarities of that kind they would not be popular with the young men. One occasion you very properly replied that no occasion for such liberties would arise if the girl's associates held her in good esteem.

I would like to testify to the correctness of your advice in that matter. I am a young man, and I feel sure that if girls did not permit some little familiarities of that kind they would not be popular with the young men. One occasion you very properly replied that no occasion for such liberties would arise if the girl's associates held her in good esteem.

MONDELL ATTACKS SALES TAX PLAN

Tells Harding Scheme Illogical and Impossible; President Noncommittal.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
Copyright 1921, by Janesville Gazette.
Washington—Republican Leader Mondell told President Harding Wednesday that a sales tax was not only illogical but impossible and that he could not commit himself but said it was a matter for the two houses of congress to work out.

Mondell's visit followed several conferences which administration senators had with Mr. Harding in which they urged him to throw his influence in the scales in favor of a so-called manufacturers' sales tax.

The controversy between the advocates and opponents of a sales tax is a climax inside the administration camp. The house is insistent that the bill which it has passed be placed on a basis for tax legislation, and Mr. Mondell indicated that there would be no objection in the house to a measure that would change the basis of the tax in the hands of the manufacturers.

In other words, the formula of taxation prepared by the house will be adhered to by its leaders, and any attempt to amend it by Senator Smoot will be vigorously opposed.

"Lifted, Not Sifted," said Mr. Mondell. "We worked in the house," he said, "and the people who lifted the burden and not shifted. With all due respect to the gentlemen who are advocating a sales tax, it is illogical and adds to the burden of the taxpayer. It is the simple thing that it is claimed. How, for instance, will be a sales tax be computed on the wool grown in my state? Will it be placed on the wool or on the cloth? Will it be placed on the yarn or on the cloth? It will be passed on just as surely as any other tax."

The republican house leader declared that a new system of taxation would have no effect on the machinery of the government. The government machinery would have to be changed so as to collect the new taxes. Furthermore, there is no reason to believe that the manufacturers' sales tax would bring with it more evils than it was intended to cure. He declared, too, that the bill would not mean a perfect measure but that it did tend to relieve the people of the abnormal and unusual taxes. He saw no hope for the amendment proposed by Senator Smoot. He said that the bill would be made effective as of last January.

As to sales tax.

When it was suggested to him that many business men are opposed to the bill because of the fact that it would discontinue the tax on the fact of their disapproval, Mr. Mondell insisted that the profits tax would not be immediately repealed. Mr. Mondell insisted that the bill would be made effective as of last January.

Gong Sounds to Call Farmer Minute Men to Repel Attacks of Robbers

Giving the "call to arms" alarm and armed posse responding.

Cincinnati, O.—Hazelwood, Ohio, twenty miles north of Cincinnati, is being given a wide berth these days by highway robbers, thugs and law breakers in general.

The reason is the unique "call to arms" alarm which has been established there in the form of an old steel tire taken from a locomotive drive wheel. It is mounted on a stout frame at the corner grocery store owned by E. P. Kiefer, right beside the highway, and a big sledge hammer always stands under it. When the community is wanted to turn out in arms, one has only to strike the steel tire resounding blows with the hammer and for two miles around the farmers in general drop their work and come forth prepared for battle.

This summer two thugs beat up a farmer and robbed him of his money. He covered and telephoned the alarm to the corner grocery. The old steel tire pealed forth and summoned the community. The robbers took to the woods, where they were surrounded by the farmers and for two miles around the farmers in general drop their work and come forth prepared for battle.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you that ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for cod liver oil, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are sold by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

CHAPTER XII.
NEW COMPLICATIONS.

I did not get up for breakfast next day until Win had left for the office. Before, I always was up to say good-bye at least, and his farewell kiss always started the day happily for me.

In retaliation, Win did not come in at tea time—though, as he had promised, Colin came in. Win came in time for dinner. We were dining out that evening.

So more time passed. I continued to play the game the way he wanted it. I played cards, stood endless hours at stupid receptions, gave parties at my place, ordered handsome towns, motored—and now and then found time to be kind and kind to her. The baby had been completed, and the baby, a girl, was named Constance after me.

She was an adorable child. I thought of golden hair. She was not a strong child, and her mother, efficient and clean as she was, did not know the best things to do for her. I began reading up on baby care, in odd moments when I was not eternally on the go, and at times when Win was not home.

I called her "my baby" and Mrs. Anderson did not resent the suggestions and directions I made about her. Sometimes, bundled up in the arms of her sister, the baby went for a drive in my car; the clear air got her good.

One day my aunt dropped in. She had spent most of the winter away and wanted me to go south with her, but I knew we could not afford it, so I had refused.

"I had a wireless from your father, he arrives tomorrow," she announced. "Tomorrow! I haven't heard from him since." "You eloped," Aunt Harriet finished my sentence. "I haven't either, until a letter came this morning, an hour ahead of the wireless. It came on a slow one. Your father waited to take the fastest ship—trust him for that. He wired from the ship."

"He did not know where you were. It appears he had started with a party going to interior China. I'm sure he was bored to death. It's two months through Szechwan, the boat, and then two or three more in strange little boats drawn up to the Chinese rivers. Men drag the boats along with ropes, he says, and they're usually for sale. Win had started to laugh. "I'm sure I can't imagine what interest he has in interior China. Your father certainly was never intended for a missionary."

But my father, it appeared, had taken a fancy to a young engineer who was commissioned by them Chinese government to build a great bridge over a river far inside the country.

BEAUTY CHATS by Edna Kent Forbes

There are many little things a homely, or at least a not very beautiful girl, can do to make herself attractive. It only we all realized that prettiness is within our reach always, that we need not be born beautiful, so be so!

Here are just a few little hints about things we can all do to improve our appearance—

"We can have a clear, glowing skin that is moderate health and cleanliness plus a little common sense. A dry skin needs oils to feed it, and only skin astringents; burned skins need oils and bleaches; the 'city complexion' needs a cleansing cream as well as soap and water, and all complexions need watchful care."

"We can have thick, glossy, live hair—this again is the result of continual care. Somewhat thin hair, but good care will improve even this, and the thinnest hair can be becomingly dressed. Again it is a matter of absolute, sanitary cleanliness of nourishment. If the scalp needs it, stimulation, encouragement."

"We can all have beautiful, finger nails. And we need not trust to a professional manicurist for the nails. It is so easily done at home. It takes a little study and a little practice. Then it is a matter of finding which shape of nail suits your finger best, and whether your nails need nourishment—some do, you see."

Stories of Great Scouts

JEDEDIAH STRONG SMITH, THE AMERICAN ULYSSES.

This is a story of a modern Ulysses, a frontier hero of many wanderings, who died without receiving the fame which was his due, a man whose service to America has been but lately appreciated in his countrymen. Jedediah Strong Smith was his name, and his contribution to history was the first accurate mapping of the great West.

Smith was born in New York in 1799. As a boy he played with the Young Seneca Indians of Chief Cornplanter's tribe, and learned their lore. He became an expert with the bow and arrow, which he afterwards carried on all his expeditions. Once he brought down a hawk flying about 75 yards above him, and he could deliver a shaft to the heart of a buffalo as skillfully as any Indian hunter.

In years of wandering Smith crossed the western country on the south from the Colorado river to the Pacific, he crossed it midway from the Rockies to the Pacific, and he traversed it on the north from California to the Rockies. He visited all the important streams from Arizona to the Yellowstone country, and he made accurate notes of all he saw. This information was used in correcting the unreliable maps of the day and proved of inestimable value to later explorers.

Smith's death was heroic. In 1831 he was guiding a wagon train over the Santa Fe trail. The train had taken a short cut around the head of the Cimarron river and soon was lost in a desert country. Water must be found at once. Smith set out in search of a stream, and finally reached one. While drinking he was surrounded by a band of Comanches, who determined to have the white man's gun.

The Indians signaled peace, and after talking in the sign language for a while, they succeeded in frightening Smith's horse. As it turned, they shot at the scout with arrows, wounding him in the arm. Smith shouted about shot the chief dead with his rifle, and killed two more savages with his pistols. The grasping his ax, the scout dashed into their midst. They cut him down with their lances, but when they approached to scalp him, Smith rose again and slugged three of them with his belt. Then, he dropped dead. The Indians afterwards admitted that he had killed 13 of their party before he died.

Found—A Garter

"The young woman who left a jeweled garter in my office last Saturday should call for her property," Arthur M. Dennis, chiropractor, Bank Building.

This want ad under the Found Column accomplished two things straight off. It rewarded those people who read the classified ads in each day's paper for amusement as well as business purposes; and it certainly attracted attention to Arthur M. Dennis, Chiropractor, Bank Building.

Reporters and photographers were waiting outside the Dennis door until the pedicurist appeared the next morning. "The little want ad grew into sparkling news of it with photographs of the garter and of the garterless young woman with warm adjectives. This notoriety evidently aroused a feeling of delicacy in her about claiming her property. She never appeared.

She must have been well-to-do, to forsake a $50 garter to escape publicity. It added more mystery. She was frivolous, of course. Only a frivolous woman would wear elastic with a gold clasp studded with rubies near her knee. Yet wouldn't she be of this type of sophisticated maidens, the great imitative majority, who now roll 'em?

Dennis' chirpody parlor began to enjoy a heavy patronage. They whose toes underwent his attention with scissors, files, buffers and medications were unanimously middle-aged women.

The famous garter in a glass case hung near the Dennis operating stool. Many were the sly glances that passed from the enframed leg-circle to the suave foot specialist. "What experience this man must have!" every woman sighed.

Mrs. Beatrice Brown had her turn one afternoon. It was the first time that the chirpody's heart was warmed. This was a woman worth having. Though many waited, she gave her an elaborate treatment. She was not backward in understanding that he was courting her. Once she leaned over and slapped him gently. "May I hope to see you again?" He was in an anguish of earnestness. "Oh, how can you try to fool an old widow when you have such a baby doll?" She pointed significantly to the garter.

"Lady," he expostulated, "confidentially here is the truth about that garter. I bought it and pretended it had been left with me just as an advertisement. I expected to get a good trade from the men, but instead it was the women who were interested. To no one else have I confided this—Keep it a secret," she whispered. "It will be more exciting to play you are a bit of a rascal."

In England, an attractive automobile is sold, built on tracing lines with long and impressive hoods which houses merely the passenger's feet. The motive power, coming from a motorcycle engine at the rear.

Because the automobile has now become a more essential part of the equipment of a church, according to Superintendent Robert R. Bigger, a car for every pastor is the goal of the Bloomington (Ill.) district of the Presbyterian church.

Put to soak

9 A.M.
Rinse

"Now I just put the clothes to soak before breakfast and rinse them out when the dishes are done —"

THIS is what one experienced housewife writes about doing her regular weekly wash with the marvelous new soap product, Rinso. Until recently she always made an all-day job of washing, rubbing her clothes for hours to get the dirt out. Now that she soaks them clean she says Rinso actually saves about five hours of work each washday.

Hundreds of thousands of women are finding that Rinso takes all the hardest work out of washday. Some of them put the clothes to soak the night before and rinse them out in the morning. Others find it easier to soak for a few hours during the day. All of them say they don't have to rub any but the most soiled spots and those only lightly. Rinso loosens every particle of dirt from even the heaviest pieces without injuring a single fabric.

Don't rub your youth away. Get a package of Rinso today from your grocer or any department store. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Dissolve
For each tub of clothes thoroughly dissolve a half package of Rinso in two quarts of boiling water. Where water is hard or clothes extra dirty use more Rinso.

Pour into tub
Of lukewarm water—mix well. Keep adding the solution until you get a good, rich, foamy, soapy suds, even after the clothes have been put in.

Then let your clothes soak— and rinse without any hard rubbing—

Soak one hour—overnight—whatever time is convenient. These wonderful, mild suds loosen every particle of dirt. Rinse to remove the loosened dirt, till the water runs clear.

PERFECT IN WASHING MACHINES
With Rinso you don't have to do any rubbing. Follow regular directions, give here. After soaking the clothes, viding them into machine, full of hot water to which has been added enough fresh Rinso solution to make a good suds. Operate machine and rinse clothes. No other soap product is needed when Rinso is used.

Giants Hunting for the Speed That the Yanks Swiped

McGraw's Outfit Consults Frisch on How to Fight

New York.—The Yanks robbed the Giants of their own thunder. That was the statement of the experts Thursday in discussing the victory game. It was in speed that the McGraw clan was reputed to have the edge on the Yanks, and it was by speed that these same Yanks upset the Giants.

MEUSEL

ing by speed on the bases, aggressiveness in the field and opportunity to say nothing of the kind of hitting that Carl Mays exhibited in blanking the Giants, 3 to 0. The Giants not only look to see Frisch, their star third baseman, repeat Wednesday's performance of hard hitting and good base running, but they plan to share in it themselves.

Blues to Face Milton With Five Cripples

Five of the mainstays of the Janesville high school football team are on the injured list. This may have a big effect upon the game Friday with Union high school at Milton. The cripples are:

Schultz, tackle, bad arm; Gridley, tackle, still feeling effects of knock-out in Walworth game; Lane, halfback, bad cold; Stoldt, half, game hip; Young, full, bad ankle.

On the second team, Joe Leary, full, is knocked out in practice Wednesday night.

McCluskey will very likely be used at half for Stoldt while C. Casey, who has been doing so well on the second string, will go into the backfield. Casey looks good for a place in the line.

Two games will be played Friday. The second teams of both schools will open at 2:30. The first teams will start play at 4:45.

Two hundred Janesville high school fans will make the trip, New yards and rooting are being tried out Thursday to better support the team. The first team will travel in automobiles by bus.

The following will make up the first team. If they are fit: Crapner, re. Gridley, re. Seeman, re. Conroy, re. Greenleaf, re. Casey, re. Town, re. Leary, re. Knapp, re. Stoldt, re. Lane, re. Young, full; Schultz, McCluskey, McDermott, G. Casey, Stevens, Dawson and Mock.

The second team will be: Scobie, re. McCarthy, re. Maxwell, re. Mohan, re. Baumann, re. Gesteland, re. Hallatt, re. Geiges, re. Kelly, re. J. Leary, full; A. Leary, re. Bolton, re. Sorenson, Wittenberg, Dodge and Boyer.

MEUSEL BROTHERS SWAP WAGERS ON THEIR SERIES HITS

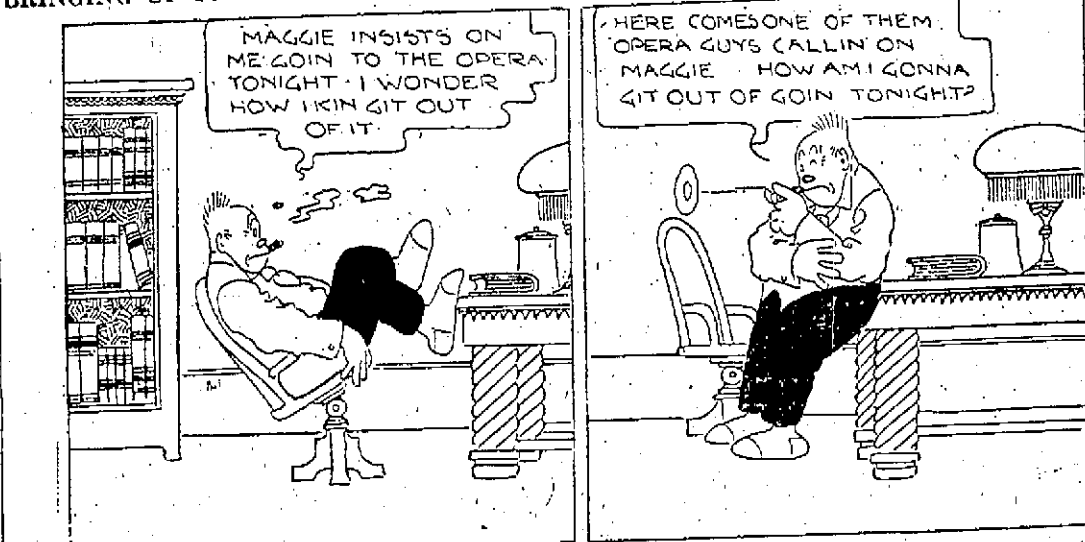

New York.—The whole Meusel family next month is sure to have a good Thanksgiving, but the question of who will foot the bill remains an issue between the two brothers, Emil and "Bob," who are settled by their batting in the world's series.

Emil, the elder of the two, left for the Giants and a National league batting star, let it be known Thursday that he had proposed to brother "Bob," hard hitting, rank right-hander, a little series of their own, the one who makes the least hits in the series to supply the dinner for the whole Meusel family next month. The younger Meusel willingly accepted.

Thursday the brothers enter the second game of the series on even terms so far as officially recorded hits are concerned. The Yankees representative member of the rammy made a strong bid for leadership when he hit the ball for what had the earmarks of a triple. He neglected the little formalities of touching first base, however, and was declared out after he reached third, the ball being thrown to first to complete the technical out. Although deprived of a hit, "Bob's" bid sent a run over the plate.

Emil was at bat three times and failed to connect safely. "Bob" was at bat four times and also stands even with his brother, with a .009 batting average.

Taking two games from the Merriek Dairy company and losing one by only six pins, the Cronin Dairy company slid into first place in the city bowling league Wednesday night with a lead of one game. Three teams are now strung out in a tie for third and three for fourth.

High individual honors Wednesday went to Kirschoff of the Cronins, who tumbled the wood for 253. Messick of the Janesville Pure Milk company was second with 215. High team game was made by the Cronins with 871, who also got high three games of 2508.

In taking two games from Yahn's Kelly Springfield, the Janesville Pure Milk was the second one by the slim margin of two naps. The Shurtleff Ice Cream company, minus one man dropped two to the Bake-Rites, while their next door neighbors, the Lewis Union Suits, swiped two from the Gazette.

Columbus, O.—Eddie O'Dowd of Columbus won the referee's decision over Babe Adler of St. Louis. A. B. F. beat tameweight champion in a twelve round bout here Wednesday night.

The worst beating the Orioles have taken in four years.

I-C PIN LEAGUE COMMENCES FRIDAY
Bowling in the new Industrial-Commercial league will commence at both alleys Friday night at 7:30. Twelve teams are composing this circuit.
The Industrial league of last year was such a success that the same plans are being carried out this year.
The teams are the Gazette, Samson Tractors, Janesville Electric, Parkers, Bostwick, Post office, Parker Pen, Golden Eagle, Varsity, American Express, Cadillac and Woolen Mills.
The American legion pin artists will inaugurate an ex-service man's bowling league at the East Side alleys at 7:30 Thursday night. Four teams have been arranged and it is expected that more legion bowlers may come in to swell the number.
Thursday's bowling will be in the nature of practice. Ted Corrado, who has the formation of the league in hand, urges all service men who would like to roll in the league to be on hand at the alleys Thursday.
Following Thursday's games, it is expected that a schedule will be arranged.
"Court convenes at 9:30," is a warning sign to motorists of the danger of fast driving, and is conspicuously posted on several prominent highways leading into Quincy, Mass.

Moose Bowlers Start Monday

The fifth bowling league to make its bow to the Janesville alleys will start rolling next Monday night. It will be that of the Moose lodge.

According to an announcement made Wednesday, the league will be composed of eight three man teams. Each squad will have a substitute.

The teams are: 1. Ed. Baumann, H. Kueck, Ray McMahon, William Taylor, 2. Don Cuts, L. Cheseboro, Henry Agrim, Fred Newell, 3. Wesley Briggs, Floyd Adams, Art Goodin, Harry Rose, 4. Art Kressin, David Reese, August Hugen, O. J. Dietz, 5. H. Hindes, E. Hindes, George Hager, W. Churchill, 6. H. Kneelan, Samuel Walker, Charles Kueck, Snyder was on the opposite side of the plate and did not reach the runner.

The youthful star, a native of Minnesota, is a fellow townsman of Steve O'Neill, the Cleveland star, backstop. They live on the same street next door to each other and learned their baseball together.

AMERICAN LEGION TO BOWL THURSDAY
Bowling in the new Industrial-Commercial league will commence at both alleys Friday night at 7:30. Twelve teams are composing this circuit.
The Industrial league of last year was such a success that the same plans are being carried out this year.
The teams are the Gazette, Samson Tractors, Janesville Electric, Parkers, Bostwick, Post office, Parker Pen, Golden Eagle, Varsity, American Express, Cadillac and Woolen Mills.
The American legion pin artists will inaugurate an ex-service man's bowling league at the East Side alleys at 7:30 Thursday night. Four teams have been arranged and it is expected that more legion bowlers may come in to swell the number.
Thursday's bowling will be in the nature of practice. Ted Corrado, who has the formation of the league in hand, urges all service men who would like to roll in the league to be on hand at the alleys Thursday.
Following Thursday's games, it is expected that a schedule will be arranged.
"Court convenes at 9:30," is a warning sign to motorists of the danger of fast driving, and is conspicuously posted on several prominent highways leading into Quincy, Mass.

ARBUCKLE CASE ECLIPSED BY ALLEGED WOMAN BLUEBEARD'S TRIAL

TYPHOID TEST IS ON TRIAL THERE

Crowds Throng to Hear Case of State Against "Bluebeard" Woman.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Twin Falls, Idaho.—This little city, set in the alkali desert, green with grass and trees, with spreading orchards and vegetable fields, is the scene of one of the most remarkable trials in the history of the far west. Sitting in the little court room, a room packed with the men and women of the community all about and coming from every section of the Snake River valley, watered by the Shoshone dam.

William A. Babcock, Idaho judge before whom Mrs. Lydia Southard will be tried.

In the southern part of the state, is a woman, the coolest of all in the throng, untroubled and bland. Mrs. Lydia Southard may look from the window of the court room into the city park where she was wooed by two of her husbands. For the death of one who is on trial for her life. Specifically, she is charged with the murder by poisoning of her fourth husband, Edward F. Meyer, a year ago last month. But the state will seek in proof of her studied plan for poisoning Meyer her employment of the same methods and the same poison in slaying three previous husbands and the brother of one of them.

Her fifth husband, Paul Vincent Southard, petty officer in the United States navy, to whom she was married within a few months after the death of Meyer, is at her side in her fight for life.

Frank L. Stephan of Twin Falls, Idaho, prosecuting attorney representing the state in the Southard case.

With hundreds of witnesses from Northwest states and from Montana, where two of the husbands, Lewis and McElfish, died within a year, and with throngs of curious men and women from the surrounding country frantically pushing and jamming for a place of vantage for even a glimpse of the accused woman, Judge Babcock announced that unless absolute quiet be maintained by spectators he would clear the court room.

May Be Difficult to Get Jury.
Their venture of juryman called was largely representative of the farm and ranch life of the country. Only a few men from the city were included in the number, but even this fact was not expected to make the selection of the jury an easy matter, and it took four days.

No woman has ever been legally put to death in Idaho. Hence it was that there was a general expression of desire to evade duty on the jury in the Southard case. With this feeling, both Frank L. Stephan, state's attorney, and W. F. Guthrie, leading counsel for the accused woman.

The state has subpoenaed 137 witnesses and expects to summon several others.

William P. Guthrie of Twin Falls, Idaho, leading counsel for Mrs. Southard.

Mrs. Southard is accused of poisoning Meyer with arsenic obtained from

Analysis of Janesville City Government

Prepared for the Janesville Daily Gazette by Gaylord Cummin, C. E., Institute of Public Service, N. Y. City.

Toward the close of 1919 the National Board of Fire Underwriters made a careful survey of Janesville in reference to fire fighting apparatus, mechanics of fire prevention systems and other details necessary to fix a rate to be charged for insurance. That report was not at all complimentary to the city administration and it was a greater condemnation of the city system of government. Under it for years there had been going on a laxity in the common coordination of things which had its results in a higher rate of insurance than the size of the city, its general structural arrangement, and the cost of water service and fire protection warranted. All these were little things too. Some of the things have been mentioned by Mr. Cummin in his survey and analysis. To the report submitted to the Gazette he attaches the last report of the National Board Extracts are here printed. Since the report was made some of the things to which it called attention have been remedied. The hydrants have been painted for one thing. Fire alarm boxes have been made more prominent with red stripes about the posts; we have more water supply from an additional pump. But we have the same hose that have threads that do not fit the hydrant connection. We have a department that as it was shown in the examination before the Fire and Police Commission needs training. The personnel of the department is fine but what can a man achieve without special training? Mr. Cummin has called attention to this point. There are firemen's schools maintained by large cities and no cost is put on the city sending a man to learn all the latest methods of fighting fires. The cost to Janesville would be the railroad fare there and back and the few days board. In these schools the firemen under training stop at the fire headquarters and live the life of the fireman with whom he associates.

The whole pity of the matter is that it was necessary for the National Board of Fire Underwriters to come to Janesville and point out the laxity in fire matters, in having to call attention to these things at all, and the fact also that some of them have been remedied is admission of their correctness. That is probably what will happen to the report of Mr. Cummin. The city administration, especially the mayor of Janesville, who has assumed all responsibility without really having much of any under either the charter or the new law passed by the legislature placing all cities of the state under one general law, has professed to be profoundly disturbed over the statements by Mr. Cummin. Why he or any other city official should be so is beyond comprehension of the average citizen, unless the items of waste and carelessness and extravagance hit home.

One would naturally think that any official would heartily welcome expert evidence as to any defects or failure instead of damning the mirror that discloses the egg on the nest.

Much of the report of the National Board of Fire Underwriters is technical and has no bearing on the subject in hand except to recite what the facilities are, giving number of hydrants, etc. Attention is called to the lack of hydrant gates, only 11 having gates in the branch connection to the main. "It was stated that all future installations of hydrant branches would be equipped with gates."

This is the first reform asked and immediate acceptance is indicative of the justice of it.

Too few hydrants are noted. The streets served with 2-inch pipe do not have hydrants, and there are several localities where there is a hydrant only every second block. "Many hydrants are set too low, making them inconvenient for fire department use and increasing the liability of being covered over with snow."

This again is noted as a serious defect in the fire fighting facilities. In the inspection of hydrants it is stated that the habit is to make these once a year. Those operated by the National Board engineer (in the inspection) were found only in fair condition.

The tests were made between 1:30 p. m. and 2:15 p. m. under fire pressure. Test 1, (Jackson and Milwaukee streets), in the western portion of the principal mercantile district, showed that the mains are of ample size to deliver water for engine supply, but that only about two-thirds the required quantity can be obtained at pressure adequate for hydrant streams. Test 2, (Milwaukee and Bluff streets), showed that less than half the required quantity can be obtained for hydrant streams in the eastern part of the district. Test 3, (Jackson and Second streets), in a residential section, was weak, due to the high elevation above the pumping station and to lack of large size mains for this locality depending on the station. Test 4, (Center Avenue and North street), gave satisfactory results at fires. (Corrected.)

In the conclusions reached in the matter of water supply the report says: CONCLUSIONS.—Organization.—The organization and management is good; records are somewhat incomplete, but are gradually being improved. Emergency provisions are inadequate and the water department is not represented at fires. (Corrected.)

Supply Works.—The well supply is in a good water bearing strata and has been sufficient to meet past demands. No tests have ever been made to determine their capacity but it is felt that additional supply must be obtained; the amount of storage in the reservoir is not sufficient to meet domestic consumption demands for one day and the elevated storage is insufficient to be of much value. The total pumping capacity is insufficient to supply combined consumption and fire flow and two of the three pumps are in poor condition.

The pumping station is seriously exposed and there is much combustible material in its construction.

Consumption.—The per capita rate of consumption is moderate, but could probably be considerably reduced by the more general use of meters.

Pressure.—Normal pressure is sufficient to supply sprinklers in buildings in the lower part of the city. No pressure recording instruments are maintained on the system and steps should be taken immediately to remedy this condition so that full knowledge of pumping conditions are on record.

Protection.—Reasonable protection for the principal mercantile district requires a fire flow in excess of maximum consumption of 4,500 gallons per minute, with a distribution system capable of delivering this amount about any block, and with hydrants so located as to deliver two-thirds this quantity upon any large fire through hose lines, none exceeding 500 feet in length. The total quantity includes an allowance for loss from broken connections and hydrants left open, incidental to a large fire. In residential districts 1,000 to 2,500 gallons are required.

Fire flow tests indicate that the carrying capacity of mains to the principal mercantile district is not sufficient to furnish proper fire protection.

Own Judgment Disfers.
In his own judgment he declared on the witness stand, death was due to the presence of some factors other than the germs of typhoid, probably ptomaine poisoning. Meyer's temperature was abnormal in the hospital and he grew steadily weaker until death ensued, the record showed, and for the most part, Mrs. Meyer and the patient grew steadily worse until death ensued.

Asked if the patient's symptoms following his final collapse on the day prior to his death were the same as those which had previously characterized the case, the witness replied, "I would say that the same positive factor was back of each set of symptoms."

Grew Worse Suddenly.
Dr. Coughlin said that the day prior to Meyer's death, the witness discussed with Meyer and the defendant the advisability of dispensing with the services of the special nurse in charge of the case. That evening, he said, Meyer was taken violently ill, and the patient grew steadily worse until death ensued.

Asked if the patient's symptoms following his final collapse on the day prior to his death were the same as those which had previously characterized the case, the witness replied, "I would say that the same positive factor was back of each set of symptoms."

tion for direct hydrant streams, being particularly weak in the eastern section in residential districts poor to good quality are available. Mains.—The main arteries are not of sufficient capacity and extend only through a small portion of the system; secondary feeders are practically lacking. The guttering is poor, a large proportion being 4- and 6-inch pipe, much of it in dead ends. The laying of 4-inch pipe for hydrant supply should be discontinued. No trouble has been experienced from electrolysis, but no tests have been made to determine actual conditions.

Gate Valves.—Gate valve spacing is much too wide and there are no regular inspections made or record kept of their operation. Detail records of their location are in convenient form; there would be delay in uncovering valves on unpaved streets.

Hydrants.—Hydrants are in only fair condition and are in need of painting. (Done), and in several instances should be raised for convenient operation. A large proportion are too small and unreliable. Hydrant spacing is much too wide both in the mercantile and residential sections.

Friday the report on the fire department will be printed.

IMPORTANT CASES UP AT JEFFERSON

Statutory, Liquor and Kidnaping Charges Included on Calendar.

Jefferson.—One of the most important criminal calendars in the history of the Jefferson county circuit court will be heard here next week when Judge George Grimm calls the court to order Monday for the fall term.

A sensational case, which will be bitterly fought by the defense, is the case against George Kartoes and Louis Karpadlian, both of Watertown. Their arrest last winter on charges of keeping premises for unlawful and immoral purposes involving two young girls caused a sensation. Two other statutory charges have been preferred against the men. Karpadlian, an ex-service man and in business at Watertown, has stoutly maintained his innocence. Kartoes is defended by State Senator Timothy Burke, Green Bay.

Cornelius Trachten, charged with kidnaping his own child, will be tried at the October term. The defendant was arrested in California and extradited. The case of the state of Wisconsin against the Jayson Bond Inc., Milwaukee, also will be tried. During a bond selling campaign this firm is said to have published matter to which the Wisconsin Bankers' association took exception. The case is being prosecuted.

Julius Detert, Waterloo, charged with violation of the liquor laws, will be tried at the present term.

BELOIT MAN SAYS MONEY WAS LITERALLY WASTED

Declares Famous Tonic Trutona Has Given Him Relief After Many Other Remedies Had Failed.

"I'd spent many a dollar on different medicines, but the money was just wasted, until I began using this new tonic Trutona recently," Mr. B. Troxel, 602 Wisconsin street, Beloit, told the Wisconsin Expert a few days ago.

"My entire system had been out of shape for months," he continued. "I was constantly annoyed by that tired, worn-out feeling and seemed to have no life about me. None of the little food I ate tasted good to me. I was a chronic sufferer from constipation. It's a different story I have to tell, since taking Trutona, however. To be brief, I just feel fine, and dandy now—better than I have for this year. Trutona quickly straightened out my whole system. My appetite's improved so much it's really hard to satisfy now and I'm not bothered with that tired, lazy feeling any more. I'm sure I've found a cure for my constipation, my bowels act daily now without the slightest pain. I certainly do not hesitate to publicly endorse Trutona."

Trutona is a great reconstructive tonic. You can't doubt this fact after reading Mr. Troxel's statement. It's just what thousands of people need at this time of year to build up their systems to withstand the ravaging winter diseases that are sure to come soon. Dozens of bottles of Trutona are now being sold weekly in Janesville at the PEOPLE'S DRUG STORE, where it is highly recommended.

Drills for Oil Where Clairvoyant Directed

Alfred Roehrborn beside drilling apparatus which he believes will strike oil.

Sheboygan.—After ten years of careful events, in which a clairvoyant's prophecies regarding the family of Alfred Roehrborn have all come true, one being on another accurate prediction. Roehrborn is drilling a well for oil, and expects to find it on his farm, located four and one-half miles west of Sheboygan county.

The settling of bees on a cherry tree in the farmyard, the sign which was faithfully looked for these ten years, which was to indicate the point where drilling was to commence, and which had been specifically scheduled to occur on July 16, 1920, happened exactly as announced. Below the limb on which the bees landed, the prophet stated, there was hidden an abandoned well, and there the Roehrborns were to dig and find riches in oil and gas.

How accurate a prophecy can be, how unusually uncanny enough to bring faith even to the doubting, was related by Mrs. Roehrborn, who is fully convinced that they need but dig and find the riches.

The prophecy was made by the clairvoyant, Mrs. T. F. Holts of Beloit, N. Y., who was visiting the home of Mrs. Roehrborn's father at that time.

Prophecies Come True.
One by one many other prophecies spread out over a period of ten years came true. As the clairvoyant had stated, three children were born to them, two boys and a girl; they purchased an 80-acre tract located in the town of Wilson, where they planned to build a home just as predicted, but with material on the ground they followed the lead of the clairvoyant and sold the farm for another in the town of Lima.

There are four houses and a store or cheese factory near the farm, all close together. This proved to be true. There will be two barns on the farm, the horse barn being paved with blocks. This came out as predicted.

From time to time it occurred to Mrs. Roehrborn that there was an unexplained similarity between what the clairvoyant had prophesied and what had actually happened, as the events shaped themselves in her mind, but she was always more or less skeptical.

Again plans were laid for the construction of a home. Some of the materials, such as sand, gravel, a large quantity of building materials, were on hand to start work. Then the hired man, an Indian whose coming and going were foretold, left them and plans were delayed.

Then Bees Arrive.
July 16, 1920, was a beautiful day, the sky was clear and everything quiet about the homestead. Mrs. Roehrborn, busily engaged in her household duties, had practically forgotten the date and its great significance.

A black cloud of bees were settling on the cherry tree as she glanced out of the door. Bees! The cherry tree! Out those thoughts rushed through her mind. She hurriedly dispatched one of the boys to the field for Roehrborn so that he might know.

There were the bees in a big cluster on the branch of the cherry tree. Right underneath the tree were a few bricks which indicated that a well had been there at some time. Investigation confirmed their suspicions.

There was nothing to do but drill for oil after all those signs. There was difficulty in getting started. But the spell of the clairvoyant was still with them. They engaged a well driller from Plymouth, Wis., whose rigging proved to be mounted on an automobile chassis, as predicted. He also proved to be a distant relative, as foretold.

Prophecies Delay Occurs.
It was a beautiful day when the drill was sent into the earth, but the following day it snowed, causing temporary suspension of the work. Early in January there was another delay. They then ran into hard rock as prophesied, and on February 1, the exact day mentioned by the clairvoyant, according to Mrs. Roehrborn, they were through rock, and the drill is now more than 400 feet into the earth.

Being handicapped by lack of funds but firm in his faith that there is a pocket of oil under his farm, Roehrborn works his farm in the daytime and drills at night.

"We are determined to see this through, no matter how many people laugh at us," said Roehrborn. "I thought it was all a joke at first, but these prophecies have all come as predicted, and I believe there is oil on this farm."

ROME STILL MOST EXPENSIVE CITY

Rome is still the most expensive large city in Italy. According to the latest figures published on the cost of living, the Eternal City is 15 percent dearer than it was in 1920. This, however, is a diminution of the cost of living during the past months when, during March, the cost of living soared as much as 30 percent higher than last year. The other expensive cities are Milan, Florence and Turin which are today about 10 percent over the 1920 figures. Venice and Trieste are but eight percent over the figures of last year.

Orfordville

(By Gazette Correspondent.)

Orfordville.—The funeral of the late John Gansell, who died at his home in Broadhead Sunday evening, was held from the Methodist church, Orfordville, Wednesday afternoon. Services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Frazier, pastor of the Broadhead Methodist church. Mr. Gansell was born in Orfordville in 1858 and lived here continuously until 1891 when he removed to Chicago, where he lived about five years. When he returned to Orfordville, he moved to Broadhead in 1914 and had since resided there. Besides his wife he leaves two daughters, Zella and Alta, both of Orfordville.

The Wisconsin River Power company gave a moving picture show at the high school auditorium Tuesday evening. Aside from a reel of comedy, the pictures consisted of the various units owned and controlled by the company, including some of the great water power dams, sub-stations, and other equipment. A good sized audience enjoyed the show. The high school orchestra furnished music.

Mrs. Ben Vidahl, who has been seriously ill for the past several weeks, and who was reported as improving, suffered a relapse the early part of the week and is in a critical condition.

A. J. Fuller and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Stewart, left Wednesday for the northern part of the state to spend two or three weeks hunting and fishing.

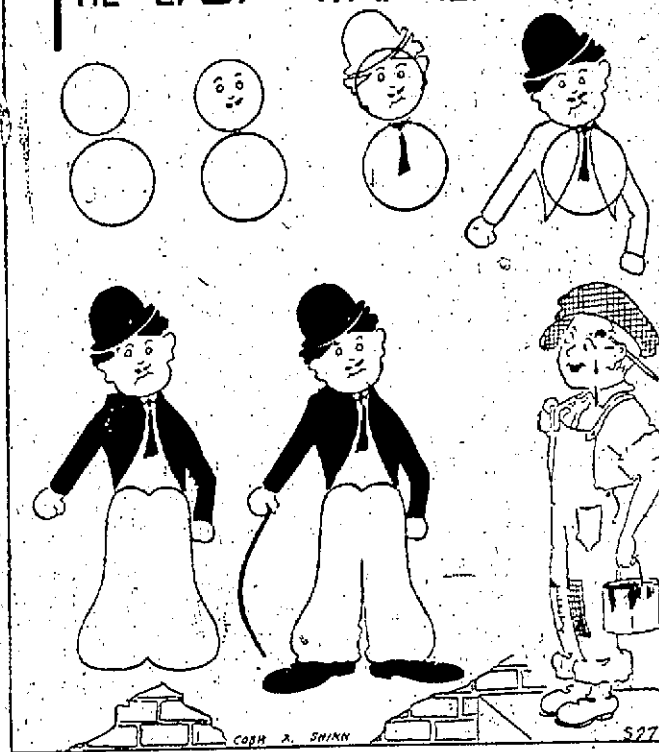

Victor Walhuvd, Rice Lake, is visiting friends in Orfordville.

DRAWING LESSONS FOR OUR KIDDIES

THE EASY WAY TO DRAW

There is no need of telling you who this is, that you draw by starting with two circles. One of them just a little smaller than the other. When you have all the features placed on the two circles, then you draw a pear and from the pear you make a pair of pants.
